

The Adventures Of Joe Banner

Chapter 1

The Beginning

Joe Banner was an ordinary high school kid until his scientist geek dad Bruce Banner turned himself into The Incredible Hulk. His two best friends, Charlie Tucker and Emma Jones always stayed supportive no matter what. On June 1, Joe was walking home from school and saw a spaceship flying downtown with an army of aliens. Inside he thought, “Oh no, not again!” of course, he thought, it was Abomination. When he got home and saw his dad was gone, he called Charlie and Emma and said, “Meet me at the school in 5 minutes.”

“But I’m in the middle of my after school snack.”

“Just get down here!”

“Ok fine. Just give me 5 minutes.”

When he got to the school, he found Charlie and Emma screaming at the hands of a purple warlord, whose name cannot be said in their language, but it translates to Smorgasbord. They were yelling for help, but no one was listening to them. They were all scared. Joe was so mad that he ran at Smorgasbord and punched him. When he punched Smorgasbord, Joe weirdly blacked out. When he woke up, he saw Charlie and Emma by his side in a New Hampshire hospital. He asked Charlie what had happened, and Charlie said that when he punched Smorgasbord, he exploded into a gross green bouncy slime ball, and then there was a battle between the aliens and the Avengers. The Avengers were quickly defeated by 1000 to 1. When they did blood work on Joe, they found Lorite (which, if breathed in, will give you the strength of 1000 men, and if you inject in large amounts, you will turn into an 8-foot-tall ripped giant). Because of the aliens having control of New York City, Joe turned himself into a giant and started devising a plan to get New York back under control.

Chapter 2

The Disguises

Their plan was simple. They would disguise themselves as henchmen for the king alien. When they got in, they would win the king's trust, and after that, they would capture him and take back New York. Well, when they tried to fit the costume for a 4-6 ft tall person (not an 8 ft giant) on Joe, they soon found out he could only be disguised as a soldier because he was huge. So, he had to fight against the Avengers when the time came. They went to the Avengers and explained the plan. They said they knew a guy who could disguise them. When they went to meet this guy named Dr. Strange, they were expecting a literal doctor, but they soon found out he was quite the magician. When they came to his house (177A Bleecker Street), he said one thing and one thing only: "At the bottom of the alien base, you will see the recruit that we have recently picked up." The first thing Joe had to do is find the ingredients, and not like eye of newt or mandrake root; he needed stuff like baking powder, flour, and eggs-no he isn't making pancakes! Once he had the ingredients, he said, "Abra Cadabra " and BOOM-- they looked like warrior aliens. They had a big journey ahead of them, so they decided to start now. First, they went home and packed, and of course, Charlie packed six burritos and an extra pair of clothes. When they left, they headed straight to New York City. Once they got to the base, they had to register themselves as aliens because they were recruits. So Joe just said, "Ggkvudglfgvrefgwlvbg," and the aliens let them in. Once they were in, they asked to see the king. They took one look at the "king" and knew that it was Abomination.

Chapter 3

What Happened Next

Now, I know what you are thinking: “Just get him, jeez,” and of course, that is what they were wanting to do. But it wasn’t just that easy. Abomination never let new servants near him, and the only time soldiers even got close to him was during their weekly training. So, it is going to be hard for them to capture Abomination. Once during the training, someone came up to Joe and whispered “Meet me in the bunks at 10:30.” He had no idea if he should do it or not, but he eventually persuaded himself to go and meet the person. At 10:30, he went into the bunks to meet this guy. But it wasn’t a guy at all; it was a lady who was also an undercover. Joe’s cover could have been blown if the lady wasn’t on their team. She said she was working with a band of superheroes called the Avengers. That was when Joe realized she was the recruit Dr. Strange had briefly mentioned.

-----+-----

Later, Joe went to talk with Emma and Charlie. “I had been wondering who the recruit would be,” said Charlie.

“I know, right? I thought it would be a warrior, but it ended up being a ninja,” said Joe.

“I just wanted there to be another girl on the team,” said Emma.

They were all wondering if she was a soldier, a servant for Abomination, or just a plain spy that no one knew was there. Whatever she was, she was good at not being noticed.

Chapter 4

Preparing

After a couple of days, Joe, Emma, and Charlie had been found out. They quickly figured out that their cover had been blown, and they were forced to leave. They decided to meet up with the Avengers and discuss what they should do. This is what they said to the Avengers: “Our cover blew, and we were forced to leave the war camp.”

They got horrible replies like, “Oh God, you failed miserably... Why did we send you 3 to do this?” and “We should have known that kids couldn’t do this.” Emma, Joe, and Charlie were kicked out of the operation and were escorted home by Tony Stark. Then, later that week, they received news that the Avengers had been kidnapped and taken to an unknown place called ABOO. No one knew where ABOO was, but they were sure of one thing: it would be hard to find. It took them like three days to find ABOO, and when they found it, they were amazed at what they saw. It was at least 30 stories of dazzling white marble with windows the size of an elephant and doors big enough to fit in a whole giant. The place was amazing, but when they got inside, it was even better. The roofs were so high they could fit that same giant that walked in the door, and then he could fit in the 70 ft pool (or his kid could go in the shallow end), the front desk was so small that if you stepped on it, you would squish it. The alien there was so small, it looked like a mouse at first. Then they were captured, and potato sacks were put over their heads. A long time after that, they arrived at Abomination’s feet.

Chapter 5

The Final Battle

Everything happened so fast it is hard to explain, and I'm going to tell you all I know about it: First, the Avengers stormed the area where we were being kept, freed us, and then went on to capture Abomination. Next, they had to defeat this whole organization I had never heard of called Hydra. They battled this bad dude named Red Skull and then tried to escape. This guy named Thanos who had a golden glove called the Infinity Gauntlet. After what seemed like forever we made it back with the screaming Abomination. When we got back, we each got personal lectures and a couple of “God Dang Its,” but in the end, they also thanked us for revealing where ABOO was. When I was getting thanked by Iron Man, he was in the middle of saying how much he regretted bringing us into this, and this weird robot dude named Ultron ran in and said this one line: “I have come to liberate the world from the rule of the Avengers.”

I am going to leave you hanging from that cliff. Bye, see you later.

About The Author

Austin is 11 years old and he loves to play baseball. He was born in Fresno, California and moved to Pacific Grove when he was 3. He has a chameleon and a dog. He has a sister named Ella and she loves watching him play baseball. In his free time, he likes to ride his bike and sleep.